your contribution to the human race.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you told a mother she wasn't raising a son, that she was raising a vegetable. Well, that's exactly what MY mother is doing — raising a 17-year-old vegetable.

I should be having the time of my life but instead I am miserable. My mother will not let me date although I'm a high school senior. I've never been permitted to spend a night at a girl friend's house (I'm a girl) because mom worries about wild teenagers who crash parties.

My whole life is going to school, doing homework, going to family affairs which I hate. Can you see a way out of this jail?—TRAPPED

Dear Trapped: A high school senior should be allowed to date. Enlist the aid of your favorite teacher or your clergyman.

Have you thought of going away to college? If you have not, you should. Even if it means working your way through.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experience of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Fashions From Salons of Paris Now Being Shown by May Co.

May Co. again presents its "Best of Paris" collection to the women of Southern California. From the French couture, these fashions, shown to the press last Monday, have been carefully and skillfully selected from the salons of Balenciaga, Givenchy, Yves St. Laurent, Pierre Cardin, Chanel, Monsieur X (Christian Dior), Andre Courreges, Philippe Vent, Nina Ricci, and Simonetta Fabiani.

Katie Safford, May Co. fashion director, and Emma Kaford, buyer, screened and selected from thousands of dresses the 16 originals purchased by the May Co. These originals have been carefully copied, line for line, including most of the original accessories.

Also purchased are carefully translated coat and suit adaptations representing the real news of Paris. The Best of Paris collections are complete at the May Co. Wilshire and May Co. San Diego.

Eye-defying copies of original and custom French millinery are also available as well as exquisite French jewelry. French tweeds have been made up in Vogue Courturier patterns and are shown with matching tweed hats.

From Andre Courreges, rising new star of the French Couture, a ropey tweed coat underlaid with chalky white has a rolled collar, cuffed patch pockets, worn very short. With this is shown an original Robin Hood hat in same shades and the high boots.

Monsieur X makes news with his squared-off and widened shoulder with the militaire treatment and his darning of the bosom and décolletage. He created the underbloused-overbloused silhouette and best interprets the kerchief hat, the rage of Paris.

Pierre Cardin's "fluid" trend is emphasized in his gray floppy dress mounted on a high neckline and deep taping sleeves, and anchored on a curved shirt tail and held with two huge buttons. An original Cardin velour padre hat is worn with this. Simonette-Fabiani continue to be the most important in coats with superb tailoring. Their Italian verve shows in flamboyant but good taste detailing.

The big, wide collar still predominates the Nina Ricci contribution featured in a gray, shawl-collared skimpy dress, looped-buttoned down the front. An original purple kerchief hat was worn with this. Philippe Vent stresses the important sleeve, blown out and cuffed, as Givenchy stresses brown instead of black for daytime wear. Truly Paris, Givenchy's cape coat adds excitement to the show. Balenciaga introduces a coat dress silhouette, sleek and smooth. His dresses have curve and fit and he endorses the lace dress trend. He also continues capes. Shown was his lace dress in black and beige with elongated torso. Chanel's suit styles remain casual and elegant in unbelievable fabrics.

A resume of the Paris fashion story... white is the color for winter, the underbloused-overbloused is the silhouette, it's lace for evening, the kerchief hat is the rage, the pendant type jewelry, worn center front, is high style, and the cape is always a touch of Paris.

P.S.: On Hair Fashions... no more teasing, the bouffant bee-hive hair style is gone... it's a soft, sleek hair style, cut at the nape of the neck. For glamour or change, the May Co. is also introducing the small hair pieces, known as the wiglets, fresh from Paris.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

A pediatrician friend of mine told me recently that good food alone is not the complete answer to the development of sturdy bodies and good eating habits. In his opinion, an important ingredient in a baby's diet is the smiling climate which surrounds him at mealtime. If you're more concerned with how happily your baby eats than how much he eats, you'll find your darling will eat as much as he needs, will blossom accordingly, and will learn to accept new foods without undue fuss and fanfare.

new foods to baby. It should be when he's reasonably hungry but not necessarily at the beginning of a meal. Little ones vary greatly as to when they are receptive to new foods. With a bit of experimentation (garnished with grins), you'll soon learn whether your baby finds new foods more acceptable at the beginning of a meal or after the first hunger pains have been eased with a favorite food.

A smile in every spoonful—that's the mealtime success story when you serve foods that look good, taste good and offer good variety. Gerber Strained Foods fill all three qualifications beautifully. To begin with, they have nature's own come-hither colors and appe-tizing flavors. And Gerber offers over 50 taste delights for bright-eyed sprites.

Introductory plan. Timing is ever so important when you introduce Undecorated story with built-in protection and comfort. Gerber Baby Pants are made of soft, polyvinyl film that's waterproof, leak-proof, acid-proof, so baby can visit on any lap without mishap. Ample cut for free 'n' easy maneuvering... bound in downy nylon edging for feather-soft contact with tender legs and waist. Extra rugged, they'll withstand many, many washings, stay soft, too. Medium, large, extra-large and in toddler sizes, pull-on or snap-on styles. Gerber Products Company, Fremont, Michigan.

STICK 'EM UP

If you put canned fruit cocktail in little paper cups, stick a plastic or wooden spoon in each one and freeze the whole works, you can take them out frozen and stick 'em up like popsicles. The children will flip.
